FIGHTER MAY DIE RESULT OF BLOW

Knocked Out and His Skull
Fractured During Bout
Held at Stockton

STOCKTON, Feb. 6.—With Ed Holley, prominent Bay city four-round boxer, reported dying at St. Joseph's hospital today as a result of a fractured skull, sustained when he was knocked out last night during the course of a boxing bout with Jesse "Pep" Webster, District Attorney Van Vranken today launched a sweeping probe of the affair.

Webster was arrested. It was said that no charge would be placed against Webster, pending determination of Holley's condition.

Still Unconscious
Holley was still unconscious shortly before noon, more than twelve hours after he had been knocked out by a blow on the chin. Holley and Webster mixed in the semi-final bout of the show put on by the Stockton Amateur Athletic club. The blow which knocked him out came in the third round. At the time it was believed he had only been temporarily rendered unconscious, but when an hour passed without his regaining consciousness, he was rushed to the St. Joseph's hospital. Thereafter a consultation of physicians resulted in an X-ray examination, which showed that his skull was fractured.

MILLION AND HALF COST OF LARGE BUILDING

Southwest Corner of North
Brand and Lexington
Site For Structure

A fourteen-story $1,500,000 "own your own" apartment building is assured for the southwest corner of North Brand boulevard and Lexington drive. Construction will start May 1 and it is planned to complete the towering structure by the close of the year.

The apartment, to be known as the Endicott Arms Apartment Company, Inc., will be the height limit for this city and will contain 180 apartments, it is announced by W. Wallace Plumb, Glendale realtor, treasurer of the company, whose president is C. N. Coverdale, an Indianapolis capitalist. M. H. Dodd, a Los Angeles realtor, is secretary.

Steel and Concrete
The site was purchased from J. A. Endicott, a Glendale realtor and investor, and fronts 103.78 feet on Brand boulevard and 150 feet on Lexington drive, to a 20-foot alley.

The building is to be of Class A, steel and concrete construction. Mr. Plumb states. The spacious entrance will be on Lexington drive, with five stories on the Brand boulevard street level. The interior of the main floor will contain a large lobby, lounging and billiard rooms, men's room, offices and other up-to-date features. On the mezzanine floor will be writing desks, lounges and a luxuriously appointed ladies' parlor. The remaining twelve floors will be devoted to apartments.

Sold On Terms
There will be 168 single and 12 double apartments, states Mr. Plumb, though all the singles are arranged so they can be converted into doubles or still larger units. These apartments will range in price from $5,000 to $15,000, according to size and location. Terms will be 20 per cent down, 40 per cent within a year, and the remaining 40 per cent covered by a bond issue running over a period of fifteen years.

The apartments will go on sale Saturday morning, February 9, and reservations may be made from the office of J. A. Endicott, 116 South Brand boulevard, or the office of W. Wallace Plumb, 229 North Brand boulevard.

Modern Features
Among the many features shown in the plans of Alfred P. Priest, the architect, are central heating and refrigeration plants, built-in features and complete utilities. (Continued on page 8)

M'ADOO ASKS TO TESTIFY IN LEASE INQUIRY

Democratic Leader to Have Opportunity to State
What He Knows

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—William G. McAdoo, Democratic presidential candidate, who arrived here today to attend the funeral of his father-in-law, Woodrow Wilson, has asked Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, that he be given an opportunity to be heard on the Teapot Dome investigation. The committee is anxious to accommodate Mr. McAdoo and will be ready to have him take the stand as soon after the funeral as he chooses. The committee is going ahead with its plan to ask the Senate on Thursday for authority to compel Albert B. Fall to testify.

Joseph Daniels has also arrived in Washington and will undoubtedly be heard from, as a former secretary of the navy, in reply to the Doherty charge that he protected the Standard Oil company and failed to intervene when that concern was draining oil from the naval reserves through wells drilled along the borders of their holdings.

Expect New Explosions In Teapot Dome Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Despite the cessation of official activities because of the funeral of ex-President Woodrow Wilson, the Senate's oil investigation gained increased momentum today that may lead to new explosions involving additional high federal officials in the naval reserve leasing scandal.

Ever since the announcement by the White House of appointment of Silas H. Strawn and Atlee Pomerene as special counsel to prosecute the oil cases, a flight of intensive proportions has been smoldering in the Senate over the selections. Open warfare is expected the moment the president forwards the names to the senate for confirmation.

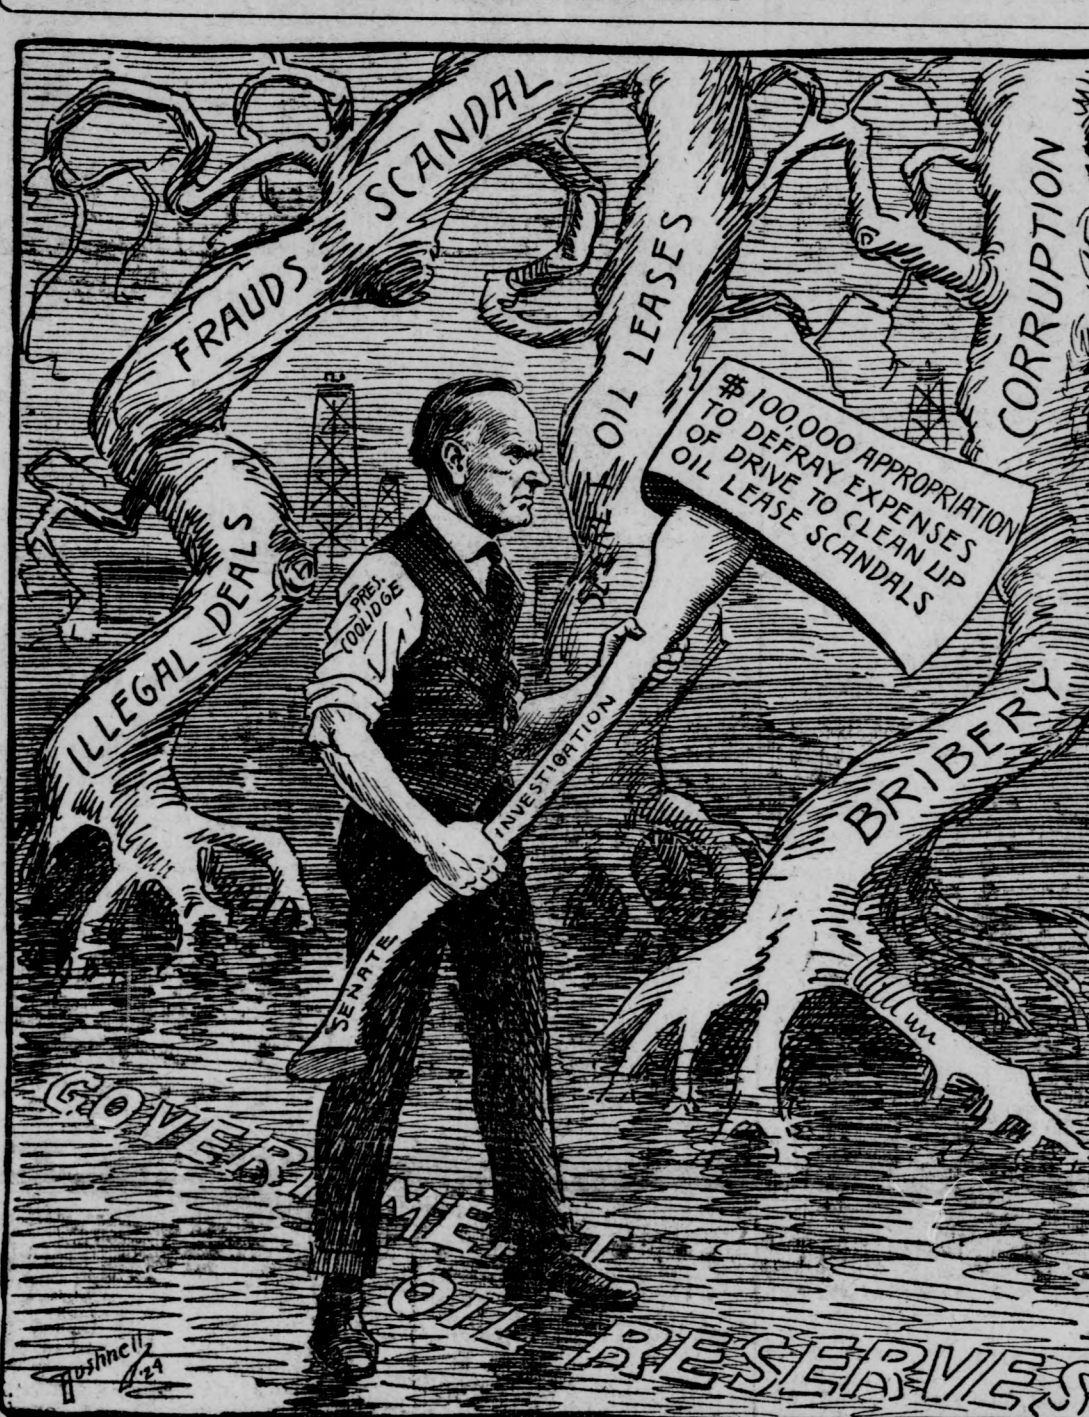

Opposition to Strawn and Pomerene is not confined to partisan lines, certain factions of both the Republican and Democratic ranks being prepared to join in the onslaught.

Insurgents Displeased

Strawn's appointment has incited the ill-feeling of the so-called insurgent Republican group, because of his alleged connection with "big business." Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, leader of the group, and his lieutenant, Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, are said to be ready to head the verbal attacks.

In high Democratic ranks there (Continued on page 8)

BIG STRUCTURE FOR NORTH BRAND

Edwin M. Holman Secures
99-Year Lease; Plans
Modern Building

The property of F. D. Myers at 332 North Brand boulevard has been leased for a period of ninety-nine years to Edwin M. Holman of Worcester, Mass., at a total rental of $237,000. The lessee plans to erect a modern building of from three to five stories on the site and is now negotiating for a lot on which to move the structure that at present occupies his property.

Mr. Holman is a wealthy retired merchant who has been accustomed to spending his winters in Florida. Last year he came to Southern California for the first time, visiting Glendale and becoming strongly convinced of the remarkable investment opportunities offered.

Like Glendale

This year he brought his wife to Glendale and Mrs. Holman is as delighted with the city as her husband. It was after looking around Los Angeles and surrounding places that they decided to make a substantial investment here, visualizing the future of Glendale and seeing that North Brand boulevard is destined to become a high class apartment and shopping district.

The lease was negotiated by Rhoades & Smith, realty brokers, 106 East Wilson avenue. No building operations on the property are contemplated by the new lessee until present leases expire, they state.

Americans In London Plan Wilson Services

RAIN IS PREDICTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Rain will fall tonight along the entire Pacific coast, if weather predictions are correct.

Moisture in Washington, Oregon, California and Nevada was forecast today.

Golfer Stricken By Death As He Waits For Putt

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 6.—While waiting to make his putt on the tenth green at Colwood golf club here yesterday, William H. Blake, K. C., prominent lawyer of Toronto, Ontario, died of heart disease. He was playing in a foursome and the drive from the tenth tee is believed to have taxed his weak heart.

Blake was 63 years old, and his passing has revived here the discussion as to what a golfer should lay aside his clubs. Fifty years is held in some circles as the dividing line, but most veterans declare that a man can go on playing forever, and point to the fact that last year in the Senior Golfers' association 100 men, ranging in ages from 55 to 84, played here. In the championships and none of them suffered any ill effects.

FORGE NEW LINK IN SCHICK CHAIN

Witnesses to Show Clark
Had Missing Jewels,
Is Prediction

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 6.—A new sensation was promised today by District Attorney Chester Kempley as a result of yesterday's grilling of Mrs. Margaret Schick, wife of George E. Schick, missing realty man of San Diego, declared by the authorities to have been slain by E. Drew Clark. This is the testimony of an El Cajon jeweler.

When Clark appears before Justice Lacey D. Jennings for his preliminary hearing this afternoon on the murder charge, Mrs. Schick is expected to tell from the witness stand how Clark returned to her her husband's watch, ring and other jewelry.

The El Cajon jeweler, it is expected, will take the stand and describe an occasion when Clark visited the jewelry shop with the missing man's watch and asked to have the engraving removed.

CAMPBELL URGED TO ACCEPT PLACE

People Generally Believe He Is Ideal Man To Serve
On Council

Daniel Campbell, unanimously appointed to serve on the City Council in place of W. A. Horn, resigned, has not yet decided whether he will accept the position.

Mr. Campbell, when he first learned that he had been appointed a councilman, was inclined to refuse the honor because of his many other duties. However, when his friends learned that the City Council had unanimously voted to have him assist in city affairs, they began calling him by telephone and extend congratulations and urge him to accept.

Pointing out that his duties as head of a bank and holder of large property interest are demanding his time, Mr. Campbell was at first inclined to state positively he would not accept. But friends insisted that he is just the man to act on the City Council and it may be that the insistence of the people will compel him to take the position.

In the meantime, everywhere is heard the expression that "Dan Campbell is an ideal man for the City Council."

WAR LEADER GETS PEACE AMID QUIET OF GRAVE

Ex-President's Wish There
Be No Pomp at Burial
Is Carried Out

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Chief Justice William H. Taft suffered a severe attack of acute indigestion today and was ordered to bed by his physicians. The chief justice was attacked just as he was preparing to attend the funeral services of ex-President Wilson and was forced to remain at home.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—On the heights of Mount St. Alban, commanding the scenes of his greatest triumphs and his profoundest tragedies, reverent hands laid to rest today, Woodrow Wilson, America's great war president, whose spoken word once decided the fate of empires and changed the history of a turbulent world.

Within sight of his final resting place towers the monument that a grateful nation erected to Washington, the founder; the jewel-like memorial to Lincoln, the emancipator; and further on the modest little tomb that marks the eternal sleep of the unknown soldiers—a trinity of memories that shall be forever hallowed in America.

Pomp Is Lacking

For Woodrow Wilson there was no last sad march down historic Pennsylvania avenue, no clattering military, no muffled drums and dirgeful bands, no pomp of power and of display, no pageantry of a nation's sorrow. A few of his predecessors, and in death it was his wish that the eulogies paid him on this final day be spoken only softly in the hearts of his countrymen.

There was not even an eulogy of him at his bier. He had not wished it. In life he was eulogized and criticized as have been but few of his predecessors, and in death it was his wish that the eulogies paid him on this final day be spoken only softly in the hearts of his countrymen.

Finds Peace In Death

In life it had been peace he sought—he put five million men under arms and sent them into war seeking it—and in death at last he found it.

The last earthly door through which his war-worn body was borne this afternoon was marked "the way to peace." The words were chisled in the cold stone—a reminder that death brings sometimes what life has refused.

The little chapel wherein his spirit was consigned to time's keeping was appropriately Bethlehem chapel. On its walls and windows were depicted the life story of the Prince of Peace, all mankind's long struggle for attainment.

Never has a great American been buried so simply. Present, there about his bier this bleak February afternoon were only those his family wished. There was none of that mad scrambling and unidentified hustling for (Continued on page 7)

Loot Bank and Delay Chase By Scattering Tacks

FRESNO, Feb. 6.—Officers were scouring the San Joaquin valley today for "tack" bandits who, late yesterday looted the Clovis State bank at Clovis, eight miles from here.

Assistant Cashier Thomas Howison, Jr., was bound and locked in the vault and Vice President E. E. Reyburn held at bay by the two unmasked and heavily armed men who entered the bank. According to Cashier Charles Reyburn, the bandits secured about $12,000. They scattered large tacks on the highway to prevent pursuit.

Club Women Pay Tribute To Wilson; Speaker Urges Fight On Narcotic Evil

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

Tribute to the memory of the late Woodrow Wilson, America's war-time president, was paid yesterday afternoon by Tuesday Afternoon club members and guests at the opening of the afternoon meeting of the club, when, following the salute to the flag, the entire company stood for a moment in silence.

Yesterday proved a most interesting day for the club women, for at the noon luncheon they entertained as guests and speakers Joseph C. Burke, United States attorney for the southern district, and Mrs. Howard Sherwood, chairman of endowment for the Los Angeles district, Federation of Women's clubs; and later in the afternoon transacted a half hour of business and then listened to a lecture by William McFee, traveler and author.

Mrs. Campbell III. There was only one regret, and that was that Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the club, was ill and unable to be present. Her place was taken by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice-president and chairman of ways and means, who presided most graciously over the luncheon hour and displayed dignity and poise in handling the business hour in the afternoon.

Mr. Burke spoke to the club company on "The Narcotic Evil," declaring that the illegal sale of drugs "is a cold-blooded proposition of dollars and cents" and that the dope peddler is not being treated with leniency by the federal government but is getting from five to fifteen years in a federal penitentiary and, if an alien, is being deported at the end of the penitentiary sentence.

In his plea to his hearers to help in every way possible in stamping out this great national menace Mr. Burke advocated sending resolutions to representatives in Washington urging them to vote for any legislation fighting the drug traffic, and favoring a revolving fund, which the government agents can draw upon in their work.

Mrs. Sherwood told of the $50,000 endowment fund the California Federation of Women's clubs hopes to raise to meet expenses. Of this amount $8,000 has been raised, and while no additions will be solicited until after the biennial of the General Federation in Los Angeles in June, she stated that this cause is one club women should keep before them and one every club should contribute to.

In the afternoon, at the short business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. A. A. Barton, chairman of the committee on revision of the club by-laws, presented the proposed amendments read to the club two weeks ago. These amendments were again read and unanimously adopted.

Briefly, the adopted amendments provided that the corresponding secretary of the club shall attend to the correspondence of the club unless otherwise ordered. The sale of directors' shares shall meet at least twice a month, except in July, August and September.

That at the second regular meeting of the club in March the club shall elect from its own number three members of the election board.

That the report of the election on the fourth Tuesday in April shall be made by the election board to the club at the regular meeting on the fourth Tuesday in April, if possible, otherwise at the next meeting.

That a member in good standing may resign by application to the board of directors and receiving their approval. Such a member can be reinstated by applying to the board of directors and payment of one-half the required entrance fee.

That notice of unpaid dues should be mailed to members on December 1 and April 1 and those not paying by June 1 will not have their names in the year book. Reinstatement will be possible by application to the board of directors.

That members of the club who are public school teachers and pupils can be members by paying one-half the annual dues. That members on half rates, except absentees, shall be entitled to two guest cards.

That the regular meetings of the club shall be held Tuesdays each month, except during July, August and September, unless otherwise ordered by the directors.

That regular annual meetings of the club shall be held on the fourth Tuesday afternoon in April. That the units of the club be known as departments and that departments shall be established by the board of directors upon the written request of twenty members of the club.

William McFee Talks. When routine business was over of the way, William McFee, traveler and author, was introduced, and with him the club members and guests shipped on an English coal boat and, leaving Liverpool on a rainy day, sailed away to what Mr. McFee chooses to call "My Mediterranean."

It wasn't one of those stereotyped personally conducted tours that progresses according to schedule, but a kaleidoscopic view of what the speaker referred to as "wayside studies."

It was a second-hand jaunt through one of the most picturesque parts of the world, and as Mr. McFee revealed the wondrous scenery, interesting humanity and wealth of experiences his hearers were charmed and longed to share with him what he knows intimately as "My Mediterranean."

At the next meeting of the club Mrs. Webb will give a lecture on "A Chronicle of the Romantic and Heroic Lives of Robert Louis Stevenson and His Wife."

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"The Man Life Passed By" shows at the Glendale Theatre for the last times today, a strong dramatic picture with a cast including Jane and Eva Novak, Percy Marmont, Cullen Landis and Hobart Bosworth. Turbin curses life for its unfairness to him, but a good influence is brought into contact with the embittered man by a girl mission worker, who, unknown to him, is the "Iron Man's" daughter. This role is played by Jane Novak.

Starting tomorrow and continuing through the week, Colleen Moore and Kenneth Harlan will be seen at the Glendale Theatre in "April Showers."

THE GATEWAY

Sid Chaplin in Marshall Neilan's "The Rendezvous" is the feature picture at the Gateway Theatre today. Conrad Nagel is also numbered in the splendid cast assembled for this dramatic offering.

"The Rendezvous" has been hailed wherever shown as a picture of exceptional merit. Marshall Neilan's mind always runs to the unusual and in the present instance he has exceeded all previous efforts. The result is something no one who sees will ever forget.

Starting tomorrow, Zane Grey's "Heritage of the Desert" will be shown at the Gateway Theatre. This is probably the most popular author in America and his subjects are always chosen from the virile west. His legion of followers will find in the present offering a film equally as good as "The Call of the Canyon."

EAGLE ROCK

ARGUMENT HALTS WORK ON ANNEX

Police and Fire Departments Both Want More Room in New Building

Work on the City Hall annex has ceased, pending the outcome of the controversy whose pivotal factors are the police and fire departments.

The original plan was to convert the present engine room into a dormitory for the firemen, the addition to be used as the engine house and locker. To this plan the police made objection, declaring that they would require the present engine room for the housing of their machines, and that the present sleeping quarters of the firemen should also be taken over by them.

At the height of the disturbance, Captain McDowell from central office visited the local unit. It was after this visit that work ceased, not to be resumed until all difficulties have been ironed out.

The following statement is issued by H. H. Maxson of the fire prevention committee of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce:

"The residents of Eagle Rock should feel satisfied with the greatly improved conditions in regard to police and fire protection, as to annexation," he said. "There is no one who will not concede that the city of Los Angeles has done the utmost to furnish Eagle Rock with efficient protection in both of these respects, and we have the confidence that it is her intention to continue in this policy. Naturally the fire prevention committee is actively interested in the outcome, as it is desired that both departments be provided with the means of serving the community in their best capacity. I believe it was a wise move to cease construction on the addition to the City Hall until an agreement could be reached as to the most advisable method of procedure. The committee will keep in close touch with the developments and be ready to assist, should it be called upon."

Pioneer Notchers of the Fremont group of the First Baptist church, led by J. M. Center, and accompanied by Rex C. Kelley, local Y. M. C. A. executive, were special guests last night at the father and son banquet at the Tropic church.

The boys presented the Pioneer ritual for the company and were most highly complimented for their work. Members of the group are Wesley Kent, chief hunter; Otis Chrisman, ranger; Bill Gray, secretary; Ernest Tarr, treasurer; Walter Roberts, Oped Lucas, Dick Wilson, Horace Davidson, Dick Donaldson, Gaylord Siville, John Lane, Gerald Boynton, Norman Rich.

charter will be outlined at the open forum meeting of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce to be held Friday night, February 8, at 7:45 o'clock at the Central school, with Secretary George H. Dunlop of the Board of Freeholders as the principal speaker. Mr. Dunlop will dwell on the points of difference between the old charter and the present draft, explaining the aims of the board in their work of many months.

Hugo Kirchofer, conductor of Hollywood's community singing, will be present and contribute his magnetic personality to the occasion, featuring a number of his popular songs. Mrs. A. R. Rose will preside at the piano.

It is planned to hold a number of these open forum meetings on the proposed new city charter, in order that the community may become thoroughly acquainted with its terms and provisions.

BURBANK

$48,022 ADDED TO BUILDING TOTALS

Check of 1923 Figures Shows Permits for Year Ran Over $2,000,000

On checking up, City Auditor W. E. Smith has discovered an additional $48,022 in 1923 building permits, bringing the new total to $2,265,110. When it is remembered how anxious was Building Inspector William Coryell that the permits for the year should go over the two-million mark, this new surprise becomes all the more enjoyable to residents of Burbank.

Permits for January, 1924, reached the total of $233,085, which is nearly a hundred thousand more than the $145,525 of January, 1923, a sign that building is generally on the increase within the city limits.

During the month just passed there were issued 153 permits, the largest being in the sum of $25,000, for an agency garage, while next in point of size came a permit for a $10,000 duplex.

Permits for February have also started out in good shape, reports Mr. Coryell, many small structures being planned.

Announce platform Following two recent meetings of the Civic Betterment Association in the offices of Dr. A. E. W. Yale at 217 West San Fernando boulevard, a platform has been adopted that it is believed will tend to draw into the organization many who are unselfishly interested in the welfare of Burbank. The platform is given below:

"First—To seek to know the truth as to all pertinent or material facts concerning any candidate for, or any holder of any office or position in the city of Burbank, whenever there is a prominent part in the affairs and interests of the community, it is necessary or important to properly or adequately promote the best interests of the moral, material or financial welfare of the citizens of Burbank, and to accurately advise the citizens of Burbank as to such facts whenever the circumstances demand or it shall be deemed wise or prudent that any advice as to such facts be given.

WATER DISTRICT PLAN IS FORMED

Mass Meeting Will Consider Project at Session in Crescenta School

A mass meeting of Montrose residents will be held next Thursday February 7, in connection with the regular monthly meeting of the La Crescenta Improvement Association in the La Crescenta school auditorium. The formation of a water district will be the problem to be solved. This meeting will hear a report of the committee which has been investigating the proposition. The report will bear on the advisability of including territory not at present served by the Crescenta Mutual water supply system. It is expected that the committee will make recommendations concerning procedure in organizing the water district. Much interest is being shown in the project by residents of both communities.

New Railway Rates

Fare schedules for the Glendale-Montrose railway announced as effective February 1 on the inauguration of 20 and 30 minute through service between Montrose, La Crescenta and Los Angeles are: from Montrose, one way, 25 cents; round trip, 45 cents; 30 ride, 18 cents; 60 ride 16 cents.

reasonably within its power to cause all municipal offices and positions of the city of Burbank to be filled at all times by persons who shall possess clean, strong, sturdy moral characters, whose honor is above reproach, and whose ability, skill and experience will best serve the interests of all the citizens of Burbank.

NEW PHONE RATE
GOES IN EFFECT

Many Improvements
Planned to Place Service on Efficient Basis

Having complied with the conditions on which the State Railroad Commission granted permission for an increase in rates, the Sunland Telephone Company put the rates into effect beginning February 1.

Improvements upon which the grant was conditional included a new exchange, continuous service, reduction of number of telephones on party lines to a maximum of four, additional long distance service lines and numerous other improvements. The application for an increase in rates was signed by nearly all of the subscribers who had telephones at the time. Rentals now range from $2.25 for residence four-party line service to $4.00 for main line business service.

At a recent meeting of the Valley Center Improvement league, it was voted to aid the movement to secure funds for the relief of destitute German children.

Condolences for the family of the late John Mac Vine were embodied in a resolution adopted by the meeting. Refreshments were served following the business session.

Additional Sunland territory will be annexed to the Tujunga street lighting district if the necessary number of signatures are placed on a petition that is being circulated. Granting of the application would give lights to all parts of Sunland not at present included in the district and also along the length of Michigan avenue as far west as the bridge across Tujunga river.

Representatives of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce attended a mass meeting at Sunland, at which the street lighting problem was discussed, for the purpose of discussing the fire protection question and methods of organizing effectively. Included in the group were President Fisher, Secretary Bodkin, Volunteer Fire Chief Zachau, D. R. Johnston and Wallace M. Morgan.

Cafeteria At High School Is Opened to Students
Today at Noon

Turkey dinner for 1500 was the large order filled at the Broadway High school cafeteria this noon, when the big culinary plant swung into operation for the first time, in charge of Mrs. Frank Eiffler and under the supervision of Miss Ellen Hanson.

The feast began at 12:15 o'clock and continued for well over an hour, different classes coming and going as their periods allowed. Of all the throng of happy students who thus celebrated the opening of the cafeteria in their wonderful new educational plant, it is not reported that a single one missed out on the turkey.

Working Smoothly
Everything is now in working order throughout the Broadway High, reports Principal George U. Moyses of the Glendale Union High school system. While some chairs have not yet been delivered, he states that little inconvenience has resulted and that a day or so more will see every last detail worked out to everyone's complete satisfaction.

Schedules are reported to be under full operation, adjustments have in most cases been completed and the second semester is now running out its sands smoothly into the hour-glass of the year.

This morning a panoramic picture of the entire student body was taken in front of the main entrance.

EXPRESS BELIEF
IN ADVERTISING

Mrs. Charles H. Toll Tells
Answers of Club Women
To Questionnaire

That it pays to advertise was shown yesterday by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, Glendale resident, and president of the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's clubs, when she spoke in Los Angeles before the Advertising club, giving an interesting resume of the result of a questionnaire recently sent to sixty prominent club women of the southland, asking their opinions concerning advertising and advertisers and requesting constructive criticism.

She stated that fifty-seven answers received represented almost that many varieties of the feminine mind, although in some instances there was considerable agreement, due possibly to the fact that the voting on the questions was by secret ballot.

Questions and Answers
Some of the questions and answers were: Do you read newspaper advertisements regularly? Twelve women replied in the affirmative. Do you read advertisements occasionally? Four women answered "Yes." Do you believe in advertisements? Forty-three women replied in the affirmative, the other answers being qualified.

Do you buy nationally advertised goods? Twenty-three women answered "Yes." The other replies being qualified. Can you save money by reading the daily advertisements? Twenty-three correspondents replied with an unqualified "Yes."

Offer Suggestions
Included in the constructive criticism were the following suggestions: Let the floor-walker weed out discourteous salesmen. The salesman should never induce the customer to buy what the latter does not want. To avoid the customers' suspicion, store owners should abandon the practice of raising the price of an article and then offering it for half price. Sales people should not call a customer "Dear." More leisure should be accorded patrons to select what they want in a store. Let the customer remember that the salesgirl is human. Advertisers should not use "leaders" to dispose of junk. Let all billboards and on-and-off electric signs be abolished. Give the busy housewife one hour of radio advertising every morning.

Every room is an outside room, with abundance of sunlight, and a huge skylight permits a brilliant light to suffuse the commodious lobby.

Mr. Kober has had years of experience in the hotel business in Chicago, and he also owns a bungalow court in Los Angeles. Since locating in Southern California he has decided to concentrate his investments in Glendale and to make his home here, and he is at present erecting a double bungalow court at Myrtle and Kenilworth streets that is declared to be one of the most beautiful and complete ever erected in Glendale.

CHARGES 'HOUNDING'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Charging that he was being "hounded" by the department of justice and the treasury department, Charles E. Brewer, who acted as President Harding's personal representative in investigating the alleged bond duplication in the bureau of engraving and printing, went into court and asked that Secretary Mellon and Attorney-General Daugherty be restrained from seizing the documentary evidence now in his possession.

Ordinance For Planning Commission Advocated In
C. of C. Committee Report

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff.

A report to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, submitted by V. B. Stone, chairman of the city planning committee, at the weekly board meeting last night, urged the passage of an ordinance to provide for the formation of a city planning commission under the terms of the city charter, to be composed of five members and to aid in guiding the future development of Glendale.

This commission, Mr. Stone pointed out, is limited by law to five persons, but he stated that there is nothing to prevent the inclusion of associate members in the commission, thus allowing the five members to form additional committees to handle the various problems that would present themselves for solution.

Five branches of activity were suggested in the committee's report, these being the approval of sub-division maps, planning new streets and widening of streets already constructed; parks and boulevards; civic center and zoning; traffic congestion, grade crossings and rapid transit; and the beautification of the city.

Mr. Stone, in view of his appointment to the post of city manager, resigned the post of chairman of the committee, as he believed it might conflict to some extent with his official duties, but he agreed to remain as a member of the committee. His place as chairman was filled by the appointment of Thomas W. Watson.

Boulder Dam Report

L. T. Rowley reported on a meeting of the Cities Municipal league that he attended recently in Los Angeles, when the Swing-Johnson bill for the construction of the Boulder Canyon dam on the Colorado river was up for consideration, and also on plans for the celebration of the centennial of the opening of the Santa Fe route, as outlined at a meeting of the Foothill Boulevard association at Pasadena, at which it is planned to put the boulevard more firmly on the map than ever.

A delegation from the Chamber of Commerce will attend the National Orange Show at San Bernardino on Saturday, February 16.

At the opening of last night's meeting President W. E. Hewitt called the directors to their feet, to stand for a moment in silent tribute to the memory of Woodrow Wilson.

The claim for payment for the shovels that had been used by the La Crescenta Development association during the fire that ravaged the San Rafael hills last fall, and that had been presented to the county supervisors for payment, was returned by Supervisor Henry W. Wright, together with a letter from Stuart J. Flinham, county forester, in which the latter stated that his department could not assume responsibility for the payment of a bill for supplies whose purchase had not been authorized by him and which his department had no cognizance of.

Director R. F. Kitterman, emphasizing the critical nature of the time when the shovels were bought, and when the entire city of Glendale was menaced by fire, scored the manner in which he declared the buck had been passed and moved that the Chamber of Commerce pay the bill for $105, which was authorized by unanimous vote.

Another letter from Supervisor Wright stated, in reference to the fire menace of Casa Verdugo, that there is no way to compel any district to provide its own fire-fighting equipment, but a fire district, he suggested, might be formed.

Aid for Ball Club

Jesse E. Smith, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the board accompanied by Frank Kerwin and Grant Leischner, owners of the White Sox, who explained the difficulties with which the club is faced at this time and asked for the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce in disposing of sufficient season tickets, at $10 each, to meet the more pressing obligations of the club.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the club owners had come to Glendale and had erected a first-class plant, representing an investment for lease of the park, material and labor, running around $11,000, and had not asked for any donations or financial support in their efforts to give Glendale a real ball club that has already proven a distinct asset to the city. Mr. Kerwin also covered the ground thoroughly in a short talk at the meeting, and the request of the club will be referred to the entertainment committee with a view to rendering whatever assistance is possible to help the club out of its difficulties.

Housing Survey
Plans for a survey of the housing problem in Glendale were discussed by the board, and it was decided to confer with the Glendale Realty board to secure accurate data regarding the situation, which was described by President Hewitt and other directors as serious.

R. F. Kitterman stated that Glendale at present offers unrivaled opportunities for men of means to invest their capital in sound real estate loans, as the demand for money for building purposes is steady and insistent.

A study of the building permits issued last year, Mr. Hewitt declared, showed that an average of four houses a day had been started in Glendale during 1923, but the demand that exists at present, he claimed, shows that the city is not taking care of the steady influx of new residents, many of whom are turning to other cities when they fail to secure a home here.

The Mission Players will be invited to send a portion of their company here next Monday, to stage several scenes from John Steven McGroarty's famous play, in the auditorium of the new Glendale Union High school, when Mr. McGroarty will outline his plans for the erection of a theatre to house the Mission Play.

Veterans of Spanish
War to Meet Tonight

Spanish War Veterans, Camp No. 67, of which L. D. Pike is commander, will meet tonight, February 6, at K. P. hall, corner of Park and Brand boulevard. The Auxiliary No. 36 will meet at the same place at the same hour, announces Mrs. Martha Warren, president.

COMALT

—stock offers to the investing public the maximum of profit possibilities with minimum of risk. The asking for money for a going concern is very different to asking for money for something that may come into existence. A going concern like THE COMALT CO., INC., owning and operating its own plant, with business established and tremendously increasing, and an assured earning capacity, is the best form of investment today as foodstuffs and popular selling drinks have and command a standard market with a large margin of profit plus value to the consumer, and COMALT more than any other, is a food as well as a drink.

Behind COMALT quality there is economical and perfect knowledge of management which is the keynote for profit possibilities, and this has resulted in a national distribution for COMALT.

Money is needed now for extension purposes, new machinery and additions to plant and to handle business already secured.

It is not our business to tell you how to handle your money or what to invest it in, but we do feel that if you will grant us the privilege of putting the facts pertaining to COMALT fairly and squarely before you, that you will realize there is being offered to you here in Glendale just as good an opportunity for conservative investment as you can get anywhere with business safety combined.

COMALT and GREEN HILL PRODUCTS have been before you for a long time, you KNOW their quality and can see for yourself the development of the business and watch where and how your money is being spent.

Stock is being sold at $10.00 per share par value. YOU SHOULD BUY SOME and also buy the products of the factory and in this way get the best and most for your money.

The plant is here for your inspection, if you care to visit it, and any and all information is at your disposal, or we will have one of our people call on you.

Stock is sold in quantities of 10 shares up, on terms or for cash. It is an excellent buy—BETTER GET SOME WHILE YOU CAN.

COMMENT

That's All
Blizzards Sweep East
Smile All the While
An Ounce of Prevention
Extol Great White Alive
—By Gil A. Cowan—

Is Glendale complacent? Maybe it is. But there seems to be enough doing in the local news columns to give people food for thought.

And it comes at a time when telegraph news is being flashed across the country by radio after wires have gone down in the blizzards raging over the Midwest.

Blizzards are a joy in the lives of those people who live between the Rocky mountains and the Atlantic ocean, the gulf coast states excepted. In the latter they have tornados.

How happy the people should be here that California and the southland in particular has little rain, no snow usually—and all the sunshine one might wish. No wonder the whole world is thinking about settling in the land of the golden sunset, as the poets say.

Yet are we really happy? Most folks are, we imagine, but if it is so, why not a smile on every face? Why not a song in every heart? Why all this wrangling and jangling and the rest of the hills found in those places where people have a privilege to be unhappy? That's what we'd like to know, but never expect to find out.

Remember when you used to be shoveling snowdrifts off the walks back east? A lot of you do, and does anyone recollect a neighbor who was peevish about the chore? Maybe they were, but we recall most of them had a cheery word and a smile that froze on their faces until their lips cracked, laughing at the futility of the elements in trying to stop business.

Why, it is reported one dweller of Boston used to take a pleasure in sliding on the ice at the front doorstep in order to let someone catch her! And what a feat it was in the days before radio when the Chicago Daily News cabled market reports around the world during another such snowstorm.

That's making the most of a situation, we'll say.

As we sit here and write a fly cavorts about the wall in front of the typewriter. Heartily, we suspect there is going to be a dead fly shortly. The proofreaders keep a fly who handy to his desk, for he believes that one killed now means that millions will never live.

This is the ideal season of the year to rid the house of flies and screen it tight. An ounce of prevention will save a pound of cure. Fly spray is available, and is saying. And he knew what he was talking about, too.

"Extol the Great White They Live" is the plea of the Pasadena Star-News in an editorial which follows:

"The American people have given more and more object-lessons in appreciating their great men and women, before they become as eager to extol those great in life as they are ready to eulogize them in death? One word of sincere praise to or of the worthy great while they live, is worth hours of fulsome panegyrics after they die. It is the living who should have the support and encouragement and praise which is their due. Be just and considerate toward the great while they live—for their greatness will perpetuate itself when they are gone.

"Here in America, political criticism, and criticism in general, of great statesmen and publicists, and philanthropists, and heroic figures approaches the proportions and aspect of studied, persistent belittlement, while the great ones are alive. Not until they die is there a swinging to the side of laudation and appreciation. This is a deplorable and mischievous trend in thought and method. It has sent more than one great person and heroic figure to the grave broken-hearted.

"Surely there is enough intelligence and discrimination surely there is enough sense of justice and fair play and gratitude in this country to overcome this growing tendency to be critical captiously and outwardly unappreciative of almost every great personage who towers because of illustrious service."

Glendale is the fourth largest city in Los Angeles county! Remember that fact, folks, and make it known. Pomona labors under the delusion it holds fourth place. Sorry, but it's not so.

PLAN TO COMPEL DEBT PAYMENTS

Foreign Nations to Be Asked
For Prompt Settlement
Of Obligations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Definite pressure upon foreign nations to force payment of their debts to the United States may be exerted soon by the American debt commission.

Representative Crisp of Georgia, member of the commission, declared today he expected to confer with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to suggest a more definite and active policy toward the debtors of this country.

Plan Conference
It will be suggested to Mellon, who is chairman of the debt commission, that the board be assembled and that it draft a courteous but firm note to each of the debtor nations, asking that they send representatives to the United States to arrange for funding of debts.

"Today our taxes are higher than most of our allies," Crisp declared. "Our people are being taxed millions of dollars to pay

This faction charged that President Coolidge did not call in minority chiefs to suggest names for the Democratic council, but that after the selection was made, Senators Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, and Walsh, Democrat, Montana, chief assailant of the leases, were summoned to the White House for consultation.

Ex-Chief Lankford was at his desk as usual this morning. "I am willing to cooperate in every way possible with Chief Fraser. I will not continue in the service, however, as a captain or subordinate officer. As soon as he can find some one to take my place, I'm through," he said.

Promise Protection
Chief Fraser made no comment on the resignation of the entire department beyond the fact that he had received the paper. It was handed to him this morning at his office in the city hall by Captain R. E. Dodsworth, one of the oldest men in point of service in the department.

Accepts Resignations
Chief Fraser, at noon, stated that he had accepted the resignations of the firemen presented to him earlier in the morning, and that he was taking steps to afford relief when the present force walked out, as their notice signified, on February 11.

We will see to it that Glendale has fire protection," said Captain Dodsworth after his talk with the acting chief this morning.

Chief Fraser is interviewing the members of the force further today, and will make his changes in the department as soon as he is fully advised as to just where the trouble laid, and who was responsible for the upset.

including a twenty-foot radio aerial on the roof, with a central receiving plant that will be powerful enough to catch messages from New York.

Maid and janitor service will be furnished to each apartment at a nominal cost, Mr. Plumb states. Each purchaser of an apartment will be given a deed, which can be sold or hypothecated the same as any other securities.

In Long Beach similar apartments have recently sold at a 60 per cent advance over purchase price, he points out. With the many advantages of such a modern system of home owning, it is believed by the incorporators of the Endicott Arms Apartment Company, Inc., that all the apartments will be taken in a very short time.

To Glendale the erection of such a structure means the emergence of the city into the Hollywood and Long Beach class, it is conceded by all.

PUPILS, FACULTY SETTLE TO WORK

Excitement of Moving Day at New High School Gives Place to Calm

Students and faculty at the East Broadway plant of the Glendale Union High School system settled down to their work yesterday with a sigh of contentment. Monday was hectic. Excitement ran high. The buzz of conversation waited freely over the campus. But now all is orderly, calm quiet. The great $600,000 educational machine, pride of all the Southland, had gotten under way.

Probably the worst joke donated by a teacher Monday came from P. E. Webb of the mathematics department, when he announced a pair of tests for the following days, "just for review."

Explore New School
All day the halls were filled with students, exploring for the first time in many instances their future home for one, two and three years. Throughout the day the great auditorium was inspected, as was the library. And not a few of the students decided to take some art course or another for the coming semester, when they learned that the tower is to be closed to all but those who study in the higher realms. The only other hope is that sight-seeing tours may be inaugurated. Pilgrimages were also made to the bleachers now under construction across the sandy wastes which camp between the main building and the grandstand. Everywhere, one thing was missed. It was almost as though a certain familiar personality was absent. Who? "Old Mr. Crowded Condition, who used to hang out at the Harvard High and knew all the students by their first names," is the way one senior put it.

Lockers were assigned Monday, one to each student, another novelty. Gymnasium is being held in numerous places, states Coach Normal C. Hayhurst. The boys report to the cafeteria and the girls wherever some obscure nook can be commandeered for the moment.

Band Gets Together
Harold W. Roberts and his wind-shakers expect to have a band that will be a credit to Glendale, now that the split session nuisance has been done away with. Mr. Roberts also heads the U. S. C. band, famed throughout the state. He reports that the G. U. H. S. band already numbers forty-two members and will soon go over fifty. Fancy drill formations as well as concerts are on his program.

All in all, the slogan at the Broadway High seems to be: "Pity the scrub and the shop student!" By which they mean to infer that neophytes must still drag along at the Harvard High.

FIRE LOSS $100,000

PEPPERILL, Mass., Feb. 6.—Fire late Tuesday destroyed the Tarbill business block in the center of town at a loss estimated at $100,000. The fire followed an explosion in the basement of a drug store in the block.

College Debates to Open Thursday Night

The debating season starts for Occidental Thursday night with two live contests scheduled. The men's debating teams will thrash out the timely question with the University of Southern California and Whittier college. The question, resolved, "that Congress should be given the power to reenact laws declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court," is one which is regarded as of vital importance to every American citizen.

Oxy's negative team, composed of Edward Jones and Francis Henshaw, will journey over to the Trojan auditorium where they face the clever U. S. C. team. The Oxy affirmative team meets Whittier college on the Tiger home platform. Verne Mantle and Robert Stevenson are representing the Orange and Black against the Poets. Both debates start at 8 p. m. Much enthusiasm has been shown in forensics this year and a fiery discussion is bound to arise.

Candidates Battle for Net Team Place

Tryouts for the Occidental varsity tennis team were held Monday afternoon on the Oxy cement courts. Palmer, Pinnell and Boice, all lettermen and members of the varsity for two years, will be first, second and third men, respectively. The fourth position will be filled by Larry Raymond. In the round robin tournament Raymond defeated Jess Hess in the final round after the match had gone to three sets. The score was 6-4, 1-6, 6-2. Raymond and Hess were the high men who played for the vacant position on the team. As there will be five men on the Oxy varsity, Hess will probably play second doubles paired with Boice.

Tennis is now organized and practice will be held three days a week. All conference matches are played on Saturday again this year. The season officially opens February 16 with the Tigers meeting Caltech on the Tournament Park courts.

Rotarians' Show at Harvard High School

Rotarians are responsible for the program tomorrow night staged for Community Service at the Harvard street high school auditorium. The program which has been announced, is mainly musical with the Baptist orchestra and the Methodist quartet furnishing numerous selections. The Rotarians also will sing while several soloists are billed to appear.

Most interesting, however, will be a course of golf by Harry S. Webb, well known department store owner, who is said to be one of Dan Kelly's best customers in the sporting goods line. Dan arranged the program, or shall we call it frame-up?

Anyway, the public, as well as Kiwanis, Exchange and Elks club members are invited for the Thursday night get-together of Community Service. Newcomers to Glendale are particularly welcome—and the show costs nothing.

HILTON SISTERS, 17, HOSTS AT PARTY

Grown-Together Girls With C. A. Wortham Shows Hold Banquet Celebration

Yesterday being the seventeenth birthday anniversary of Violet and Daisy Hilton, headliners with the Charles A. Wortham shows which are here this week under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion, Glendale, was the scene of probably one of the queerest birthday parties in the history of the city.

These two young ladies, known as the grown-together girls from San Antonio, are one of the principal attractions with the show and have a host of friends on the lot. Befitting the occasion, they had to have a party, of course, as all young ladies do, and both being good cooks and well trained in housekeeping methods they cooked and served a banquet to their friends. But with all the enjoyment, the spread was not allowed to interfere with their regular appearances with the show, as the two girls are thrifty managers.

Girls Stage Own Affair
There had been a plan on foot among the show people to have the girls as the guests of honor at a banquet, instead of being the hosts, but the underground wireless of show life, however, carried the intended plans to them and they called a halt on the proceedings.

The girls have made quite a hit in Glendale. There is nothing vulgar or repulsive in their act; on the contrary, they make friends quite readily on account of their beauty and engaging manner. The claim of the management that they are one of the best outdoor attractions in the world is undoubtedly true.

Evidently fired with the carnival spirit as the result of favorable reports of the show from visitors Monday night, the midway, or, rather, midways, were filled with a throng of sightseers last night.

The management declares that the patronage for the first two nights has been very good, and a snug sum for the American Legion building fund is assured if the weather holds good.

Heavy Enrollment as Oxy Classes Resume

The second semester started at Occidental college Monday with all classes resuming. Many new faces are appearing on the campus and some who have been out working have returned. Most of the old students have enrolled and others are registering hourly.

The exact attendance is not known, the office being too busy attending to new students to count the total enrollment. It is believed that the registration will exceed five hundred.

In the opening chapel service of the new term, President R. D. Bird paid a tribute to the late President Woodrow Wilson, and read to the students President Coolidge's proclamation to the country's greatest hero.

Doheney Mined Oil With Pickaxe On Glendale Blvd. In Early Days, Says Speaker

The oil industry was briefly outlined to members of the Glendale Exchange club, at yesterday's noon luncheon in the Egyptian Village, by V. W. Killick of 421 Oak street, statistician for the Independent Petroleum Marketers' association of California, who declared that Edward L. Doheney dug for oil with a pickaxe—and struck it—on Glendale boulevard, years ago.

Mr. Killick deprecated "wildcat" and promotion companies in general, pointing out why it is next to impossible for profits to be paid by such companies, even in the event they are honestly conducted, by reason of their large capitalizations and the fact that with six or eight wells to the acre it is nearly a superhuman feat to extract enough oil to get any profits.

Discuss Mining
The oil companies figure 30,000 barrels of oil to the acre, he said, and seldom sink more than one well for every five acres. Mr. Killick also pointed out that no more than three-tenths of the oil in the ground is taken out by present methods, and discussed in some detail certain mining projects that have been aimed at reaching this 70 per cent of the precious fluid lost.

He recommended to Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilmen Sam Davis, C. E. Kimlin and Asa Hall, who were present as guests of the club, that an ordinance be adopted similar to one now in force in Los Angeles, compelling uniformity in gasoline.

Mr. Killick discussed prospecting for oil, stating that the geo-

GLOWING TRIBUTE PAID TO WILSON

Attorney Mattison B. Jones in Eloquent Address Before Glendale Exchange Club

Silent Toast Is Drunk
Preceding Mr. Jones' address, the assembly rose in a body and drank a silent toast to the departed war leader and apostle of peace. The speaker then traced briefly the meteoric career of Woodrow Wilson from his election as governor of New Jersey in 1910 to his rise to the presidency just two years later, and of his towering ascent to world leadership in the titanic struggle that in the end shattered imperial Germany and seated in power the present republic.

Mr. Jones told of the three times he had enjoyed the rare privilege of meeting Wilson: once when in 1911 he addressed a Democratic gathering at Ham-burgers, Los Angeles; again in 1916, at the White House, Washington, D. C.; and a last time in 1919, at the Los Angeles auditorium since destroyed by fire, when the great leader was campaigning for the League of Nations, just prior to his collapse.

Traces His Career
The speaker then touched upon Woodrow Wilson's career from boyhood on, pointing out his was ever a great intellect and an undaunted courage, showing the desire to serve from his earliest days, when he had been the animating motive back of his actions.

"The world will be unable to fairly judge this man until they attain to some degree the heights on which he worked," said Mr. Jones. "That he will occupy an enduring place in history is certain. Just what that place will be remains for another generation to decide. It was so with Lincoln. It is always so.

"Two thousand years ago a little cross appeared in the town of Galilee. It appeared small at first, but has grown with the passing centuries until today its head is lifted into the heavens and the nations of the world find comfort in its shadow.

"Woodrow Wilson, too, bore a cross—and in the years to come that cross will grow great, and the nations of the world will find a comfort in its shadow also, reflecting on the greatness of this leader of men, who, as President Calvin Coolidge so beautifully says in his proclamation, 'gave utterance to the aspirations of humanity.'"

HASTEN TO FILE INCOME RETURNS

Taxpayers Send in Reports Before the Final Rush Swamps Office

That income taxpayers are filing early in order to avoid the congestion incidental to the closing days of the filing period, was testified to by a report sent to Washington today by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell, which showed that 11,632 returns were filed in January, 1924, against 5,238 in January, 1923, a gain of 6,234 returns, or 118 per cent.

This phenomenal increase indicates not only that the number of returns to be filed will reach the 250,000 mark, but it is evidence that taxpayers realize that early filing will enable them to avoid the congestion and consequent loss of time that will face the eleventh-hour filer.

"I want to save the taxpayers money, and my advice is not to be misled by congressional debates regarding tax-rate reductions. The returns for 1923 must be filed at the present rates, and in exactly the same manner in which they were filed last year.

In the event Congress decides on a reduction to apply on 1923 income, taxpayers who pay their entire tax before January 15 will be rebated the Internal Revenue Bureau for January were $476,507 compared with $263,547.81 for January, 1922, a gain of 80 per cent. Collector Goodcell sent to Washington a report setting out these figures.

Shattering all records for the collection of taxes on admissions to motion picture theatres and other places of amusement in Southern California, the tax receipts for the month of January were $476,507 compared with $263,547.81 for January, 1922, a gain of 80 per cent. Collector Goodcell sent to Washington a report setting out these figures.

"That Southern California is loyal to its most colorful industry is evidenced by the truly remarkable admission tax collections for December business," said Collector Goodcell.

"The fact that the four Grauman theatres, the Criterion, Loew's State, the California and the Mission theatre, presented world premieres during the month indicates that Los Angeles is leading the country in the presentation of new photoplays. I notice, too, that the newspapers have given columns of space to the world premiere of 'The Dramatic Life of Abraham Lincoln' in New York. This photoplay was given its preview in the Roosevelt theatre in Los Angeles and was sent to New York for its initial showing after it had received the approval of the Los Angeles audience.

"These world premieres and previews not only have set new records for theatre attendance in Los Angeles, but they have made the city the arch-critic of the motion picture business. A play successfully previewed here is certain to be accepted in New York."

CELEBRATE NATAL WEEK OF SCOUTS

Three Million Youngsters in Nation-Wide Fete Feb. 8 to 14

Boy Scouts of America will celebrate Anniversary Week from February 8 to 14, inclusive. The movement is in a very healthy condition, having a total membership of 592,766, which includes the scoutmasters and other officials. There are now over 3,000,000 Boy Scouts in the world. The Verdugo Hills council with troops in Glendale and vicinity and the San Fernando valley council with headquarters in Van Nuys are among those participating in the nation-wide program.

An outstanding feature of the Anniversary Week will be the pilgrimage hikes to patriotic shrines, birthplaces of famous Americans and historic spots on Lincoln's birthday. While the scouts of Springfield, Ill., are hiking to Lincoln's tomb the Boston boys will march to Bunker Hill or the tomb of Paul Revere. Some New York City Scouts will pay their annual visit to Roosevelt's grave, while others will hike to a dozen other historic shrines. The scouts of Marion, Ohio, will, of course, make a visit to the tomb of their benefactor, Warren G. Harding.

One of the unique features of Anniversary Week, 1924, will be the radio programs. Many broadcasting stations have made their facilities available to scouting. The American Telegraph and Telephone Company has invited members and officers of the executive board to speak each evening from February 8 to 14 on some phase of scouting. This particular program will be released through the Washington and Providence stations and through western stations simultaneously.

Some Outdoor Events
The program of events for the fourteenth Anniversary Week has been arranged with a view of staging several events out of doors in the winter camps.

One of the principal features of the opening day of Anniversary Week, Friday, February 8, is the recommitment to the Scout Oath and Law, which is always an impressive service. This ceremony is generally followed with a review of the work of the scouts of the last year, with such scout demonstrations as may be held in the open or around a blazing campfire in the main bunkhouse.

The second day of the Anniversary Week, Saturday, February 9, will be devoted to scoutcraft demonstrations. The climax of the day's activities will be an all-troop campfire, with scout scout stunts, songs and games.

The third day, Sunday, February 10, will be a quiet day in the winter camps. There will be special Sunday evening ceremonies in the camps, closing with "Taps," sung by the scouts, accompanied by buglers, or by the buglers alone. In cities and towns all over the country there will be impressive church services, with emphasis on the Scout Oath and Law.

The fourth day, Monday, will be observed principally as "School Day" and will have little significance in the winter camps outside of the usual scout demonstrations.

Lincoln's Birthday
The fifth day, Tuesday, February 12, Lincoln's Birthday, will, as is customary, be a big day everywhere. This day will also be known in scoutland as Patriotism or Friendship Day.

The sixth day of the Anniversary Week, Wednesday, will be officially known as the Home and Friendship Day.

The seventh and final day of the Anniversary Week, Thursday, February 14, will be known as the Bound-up Day and Start-off Day. Efforts will be made to bring new recruits into the fold and to bring back into the fold those who have become discouraged. Everybody will prepare for the coming year, whether in winter camp or in their home-troop headquarters.

This is the one big day of the Anniversary Week.

Probably the largest demonstration during the Anniversary or Boy Scout Week will be staged in St. Louis on Friday, February 8, as the final event of the Boy Scout Circus or Round-up, when at least 1,000 candidates will be invested in the Boy Scouts by Chief Scout Executive James E. West, who will also broadcast a scout message the same evening from a St. Louis station. At the Boy Scout Circus, in the Coliseum, over 4,000 Boy Scouts will participate in the initiation of the 1,000 candidates, the largest number ever invested at one time anywhere. Chief Scout West will also attend a big meeting of scout officials at the Kiwanis club, in Kansas City, on Thursday, February 7.

Bloody Imprints in Snow Lead to Tragedy

HAMMOND, Ind., Feb. 6.—Bloody imprint of bare feet in the snow today led police here to a death room where they found Mrs. Catherine Strickler, 21, murdered, and N. Marchese, 19, a boarder in her house, dying with a bullet wound through his lungs.

A revolver containing two exploded shells lay beside the bed on which the man was dying.

Art Exhibit Interests Club Members, Guests

An exhibit of old masters, generously loaned by Mrs. Julia Steelman Nichols of 314 West Doran, was enjoyed yesterday by club members and guests who gathered yesterday at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse for luncheon and the club meeting and program.

This exhibit was secured by Mrs. Roy Ballagh, curator of the Fine Arts department of the club, who is delighted to announce that an informal reception will be held Thursday afternoon, February 21, from 2 till 4 o'clock, when Mrs. Nichols will be present and speak on "The Old Masters."

At the department meeting yesterday morning Mrs. John W. Cotton, wife of the well-known etcher, spoke on etchings. Mrs. Cotton has given this informal talk before various organizations throughout the city, and it is most interesting and educational. She sketched the making of etchings, illustrating with work done by her husband.

Exchange Club Backs Postal Employees' Bill

The following resolution, affecting the ninety-two employees of the Glendale postoffice, was offered by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, Exchange club, and unanimously adopted at yesterday's noon luncheon of the Glendale Exchange club, held at the Egyptian Village, 133 North Brand boulevard:

"WHEREAS, the wages now paid postoffice employees are not adequate to attract efficient men and women to the service, and

"WHEREAS, the inadequacy of the present wage is fully demonstrated by frequent resignations of the very best men to go into other lines of work where the salary is better and opportunities greater, and

"WHEREAS, these resignations are leaving postoffices throughout the United States undermanned and leaving new and inexperienced men in their places,

"THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Glendale Exchange club does hereby petition you to use your greatest influence and ability with all Congressmen and Senators that have to do with the Omnibus Bill introduced on December 20, 1923, in the House of Representatives by one Hon. M. Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania, named H. R. No. 4123, to have this bill enacted into a law at this session of Congress."

Humane Society to Meet Thursday Night

Glendalians are all invited to attend the meeting Thursday night of the Glendale Humane Society at the city hall. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock and Edwin Kulp, the president, will be in charge.

The society was formerly the Dog Protective Association, and all members of that organization are urged to support the new society, formed to protect sick and mistreated animals and children.

Team of good horses can exert a tractive pull of 2,000 pounds.

BIBLE STUDENTS TO HEAR LECTURE

Miss Winifred Rouzee Will Speak of Her Trip Around World

Bible students and church people of Glendale will be attracted to the lecture Miss Winifred Rouzee, Bible student and lecturer, is to give Tuesday night, March 11, in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse under the auspices of the Bible department of the club. She will speak on her recent trip around the world.

Miss Rouzee gave this lecture before the club and is now giving a series of lectures to the Bible department, of which Mrs. C. H. Temple is curator. During her lectures the Bible department, which is open to the public, has proven most popular, and Mrs. Temple and her associates have secured Miss Rouzee for the evening lecture so that all Glendalians may hear her. There will be no admission charged.

At the Bible department meeting yesterday Miss Rouzee discussed the custom of offerings observed by the Hebrews. She took up each form of offering in detail, telling its part in leading up to the coming and death of Christ.

An interesting statement she made was that Christ died from a broken heart rather than from the crucifixion. She stated that the fact was agreed upon by scientists and historians.

Before the next meeting of the department in two weeks she has asked those attending to read from the first through the fifth chapters of Leviticus.

Two Charges Filed Against Pasadena

J. W. Jeam, 1208 Garfield avenue, Pasadena, was arrested yesterday afternoon at Brand boulevard and San Fernando road by Deputy Sheriff Frank Stein and taken to Glendale police headquarters where he was charged with reckless driving and transportation of liquor.

He was later released on $300 cash bail to appear for trial on Thursday.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

By LES CONKLIN
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—How much money does a bootlegger make?

How extensive is the traffic? Is protection afforded by the police?

In an endeavor to shed light on these questions, the writer made a tour of New York City with a leading bootlegger. A conventional introduction by an obliging barber in answer to an expressed desire for a few bottles of liquid dynamite led to the bootlegger's invitation to accompany him to a supply station in his limousine. As it happened, the sources of supply had been almost exhausted by an unusually large demand, and the subsequent trip from place to place revealed the existence of six "chain stores," where John Barney was in unofficial residence.

Under the influence of frequent drinks from his flask, the bootlegger, whom we shall call "Barney," answered the unspoken speculations of the writer as to the raison d'être of the limousine.

"This closed car comes in handy when I'm delivering orders," Barney explained. "I pile the stuff under some labors and nobody ever notices it."

"The car must have cost you quite a sum, didn't it?" we ventured.

"Sure," said Barney. "But what do I care? I made $800 this week, and another day yet to go." The bootlegger's ensuing remarks revealed that he was a wholesaler, receiving the liquor from the rum-runners and selling it to retailers and a few wealthy individuals. As Barney disclosed the size of his transactions we gathered that he had been significantly honored by his personal attention to such a small order.

"Glad you're such a careful driver," we remarked as the bootlegger slowed down to avoid hitting a jaywalker.

"Well, it pays to be careful," replied Barney jocularly. "Every pedestrian is a possible customer, you know."

Our inquiries as to the activities of the police and revenue agents in enforcing the prohibition amendment were unexpectedly anticipated when Barney stopped in front of a drug store to buy some cigars. A policeman was standing directly ahead.

Barney merely laughed when warned of the danger of parking a car containing liquor so near to an officer of the law.

"Get this comedy," he said, and, calling the officer, politely asked him to watch the car while he was in the store. A minute later he came back and, after thanking the policeman and presenting him with a cigar, drove nonchalantly away.

"That's nothing," commented Barney as we headed for the next supply station. "Why, a friend of mine even uses a government ambulance to deliver his stuff."

"Do you fellows pay for protection?" we asked.

"In some cases, but not as much as the cabaret owners do. A fellow who runs a place down in Greenwich Village pays a thousand a week—that would ruin me. But there are commission agents in the city who fork over quite a sum."

"Where do you get your stuff?" "Down at the river," Barney replied. "Easiest thing in the world."

"Are you ever bothered by hijackers?"

"Not here in the city," said the bootlegger. "But they raise the dickens with us fellows along the Jersey coast—catch me going down there!"

At this point Barney at last succeeded in finding a supply station that had a few bottles in stock, and the tour ended—both our thirst and our curiosity satisfied.

On the Spur of the Moment

By ROY K. MOULTON

We have the greatest love in the world for the brothers who sit behind copy desks and edit news and write headlines. They represent the real brains of the whole journalistic idea. For seven years we wrote headlines and found it to be about as hard a task as could be imagined. A man must have experience; and not only education but knowledge. He must know the maiden name of the third wife of the Maharajah of Cawnpore; he must know why the steel millionaire divorced his wife back in 1898, why Mesopotamia entered the late war, and whether earthquakes move up and down or crosswise. He must correct incorrect items that come in over the wire, and he must get the correct answer out of his own head immediately, without running to a book. He must be tough-bitted, hard-working, earnest and of super-intelligence, and so when we see a headline like one we saw today, "Rich Woman Shoots Man in the Rotunda," we draw the mantle of charity and say to ourselves that the item came in late and the man was tired out, and—why shouldn't he be?

THE MODERN NOVEL

Seated one day at the typewriter, I was weary and ill at ease. My fingers wandered idly over the noisy keys.

Disconsolate, weary and petulant, A complex decidedly blue, Provoked vapidity and I Had nothing else to do. So I pounded my rheumy Remington.

Five precious hours and a half, Injecting, when I thought it wise A smile, a tear, a laugh, A song, a sigh, a beautiful girl, A desert and a charming sheik, A storm at sea, a love affair That lasted for a week.

Inconsequential nothingness, Thin sophistry, tarnished wit— A bottle or two of gin and A flapper went into it.

At last the manuscript was done, My hands ceased rattling the keys. But gathered up the stuff—then The publisher fell on his knees.

In ecstasy, He cried aloud with joy, "This novel is a glist'ning star!" Well, I can't kick—it's netted me.

Just thirty thousand bucks so far. —Bock.

Who's Who in the Day's News

LOUIS LOUCHEUR

As the present French government is threatened by the bitter battle between President Millerand and Premier Poincare for supremacy, Louis Loucheur, minister of liberated regions under the former premiership of Millerand, looms on the French political horizon as a possible successor to Poincare as premier should the latter resign.

Ask the substantial business man past middle age in France who Louis Loucheur is, and he will tell you he is a comparatively young man who has come rather suddenly into prominence, that he has made a good deal of money rapidly, and that because of his wealth and his ownership of a daily newspaper in Paris he is a person of some importance.

M. Loucheur owes almost nothing of his prominence to his party affiliations. He began life as an engineer and his standing in the profession is high. He did not enter parliament until the election of November, 1919, when he was returned as a deputy from the great manufacturing and mining department of the Nord.

Following the armistice Clemenceau placed M. Loucheur in charge of the industrial reconstruction of the invaded departments. In 1921 he became minister of the liberated regions, as the invaded district is now called, in the Briand cabinet, retaining that office until January, 1922, when the resignation of the Briand ministry midway of the Cannes conference ended his ministerial career.

It was reconstruction that gave M. Loucheur his opportunity, and even his enemies admit that he used it in a masterly fashion. There were no precedents to hamper him, and both Clemenceau and Briand gave him a free hand. To his abilities and training as an engineer he added what before had hardly been suspected, a capacity for administering large affairs which is not exceeded by that of any man whom the reorganization of Europe has brought to the front.

But the British Empire is the greatest undeveloped market in the world. It is the most diversified. The products of the British Empire range from the natural resources of the frozen north to those of the equatorial regions. This fact has a double importance to Great Britain. The British Empire, owing to the variety of its climate, is capable of producing and supplying every kind of food, and growing material for the manufacturers of Great Britain.

And the great variety of manufactured articles needed by the populations living under different climatic conditions gives a diversity to the manufacturing trade of Great Britain.

Domains and Crown Colonies In considering the possibilities of the development of empire trade we are apt to attach too much importance to the self-governing dominions to the neglect of the possibilities of the crown colonies and India. The latter have already vast populations which have at present a very low purchasing power. India, for instance, has a population nearly as large as the whole of Europe, far larger than the whole population of South America, and more than twice the population of the United States. If we could the standard of living in the crown colonies and India we could add hundreds of millions a year to the export trade of Great Britain. The only justification of imperialism is that it is leading the subject peoples to a higher standard of civilization.

Great Britain must give its help to the pacification and economic reconstruction of Europe, for that is so important to our trade and commerce. We cannot afford to neglect any possible market."

Domains and Crown Colonies In considering the possibilities of the development of empire trade we are apt to attach too much importance to the self-governing dominions to the neglect of the possibilities of the crown colonies and India. The latter have already vast populations which have at present a very low purchasing power. India, for instance, has a population nearly as large as the whole of Europe, far larger than the whole population of South America, and more than twice the population of the United States. If we could the standard of living in the crown colonies and India we could add hundreds of millions a year to the export trade of Great Britain. The only justification of imperialism is that it is leading the subject peoples to a higher standard of civilization.

irremediable for many years to come. That is a counsel of despair quite unworthy of a people who have faced and overcome difficulties as great in the past."

As a young Philip Snowden, parliament member and writer. "It may be true that under the most favorable circumstances it will be some years before we can recover to the full the markets we have lost on the Continent of Europe. Great Britain must give its help to the pacification and economic reconstruction of Europe, for that is so important to our trade and commerce. We cannot afford to neglect any possible market."

But the British Empire is the greatest undeveloped market in the world. It is the most diversified. The products of the British Empire range from the natural resources of the frozen north to those of the equatorial regions. This fact has a double importance to Great Britain. The British Empire, owing to the variety of its climate, is capable of producing and supplying every kind of food, and growing material for the manufacturers of Great Britain.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY BEATS A RUG

"Oh, dear, such a lot of work as there is to do in the hollow stump bungalow!" sighed Nurse Jane. "Why, what is the trouble now?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he twinkled his pink nose. "If there is much work to do, only do a little today and leave the remainder for tomorrow."

"Ah, I wish I could," spoke Nurse Jane. "But I must make the bungalow look neat and extra tidy."

"Why?" the bunny rabbit wanted to know.

"Because," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper, "I am expecting some of my animal lady friends to call this afternoon, and if they saw dust on the piano, and a rug that needed cleaning on the floor, they would think me a careless housekeeper."

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily, as he twinkled his pink nose. "I don't know very much about dusting the piano, though I did move it once. But as for getting dust and dirt out of a rug—why if there is one thing I like more than another, it is beating a rug."

"Then you may have your wish!" laughed Nurse Jane. "For that rug needs beating very much."

"Then I'll take it out on the clothes line in the yard and make all the dust in it fly away to China!" said the bunny.

"Why to China?" Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy wanted to know.

"Because it is so far away!" answered Mr. Longears. "But enough of this talk! he added. 'I must get ready to beat the rug.' Then, looking from the window, the bunny said: 'I guess the Bear will see his shadow today and we shall have six weeks more of winter.'"

"What does that mean?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Well, this is Canalemas day," went on the bunny. "According to an old story, if this day is dark and gloomy, so the Bear, coming out of his den after his long sleep, doesn't see his shadow to frighten him, he will stay out, and in four weeks more, winter will end."

"But, if the sun shines, as it is shining now, and the Bear sees his shadow, he becomes frightened, back he goes into his den, to stay for six weeks, and winter lasts that much longer. Some stories have it that instead of the Bear, Old Mr. Groundhog sees his shadow."

"It sounds rather silly to me," remarked Nurse Jane.

"No doubt it is," agreed the bunny. "Winter lasts as long as Jack Frost wants it to, bear or no bear. Only I hope the bear doesn't come after me today."

"There is a small chance that he will," laughed the muskrat lady. "But this only goes to show that we never know what is going to happen, do we? No, indeed!"

Uncle Wiggily took the rug out into the yard and spread it over the clothes line.

"There is a little tent that Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow play in when the summer days are here," said the rabbit uncle. For the rug, coming down on either side of the line, like the straddling letter A, did seem to be a cozy little tent.

"However, this is not time to play—I must work! I must beat the rug before it beats me!" laughed the bunny.

Picking up a heavy stick Uncle Wiggily whacked the rug a few times, sending out a cloud of dust. In the smiling sunshine the grains of dust flitted about like fairies dancing.

"Whang, bang!" Uncle Wiggily beat the rug harder and more dust flew out, for it had not been cleaned since September, when school opened. Not that the rug went to school, however.

The rabbit beat the rug very fast and such a cloud of dust came out that for a moment or two Uncle Wiggily could see nothing. But when the dust cloud blew away the rabbit saw something he didn't want to see—and this was the Bad Black Bushy Bear.

"Oh, ho! Oh, ho!" growled the Bear. "I am going to nibble your ears, Uncle Wiggily, for making me sniff red pepper, as you did yesterday. But before I nibble your ears I must hide away somewhere. The sun is shining and I don't want to see my shadow. Where can I hide?"

"Hide in between the sides of this rug!" said the bunny, as a clever idea came into his mind. "This rug is like a tent. Hide in it until the sun goes under a cloud."

"I will!" growled the Bear. "I'll hide in the rug and when the sun shines no more I'll come out and nibble your ears."

So the Bear hid in the rug. But no sooner was he inside than Uncle Wiggily raised the heavy stick.

"Bang! Whack! Bang!" the bunny beat the rug and he beat the bad Bear inside the rug.

"Oh, wowhie! Ouchie! Wow!" howled the bad chap. "I can't stand this beating, even if I do see my shadow! I'll nibble your ears some other day!" And out of the rug ran the bad chap; out of the rug and far away.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny gentleman as he took the now clean rug into the bungalow. "Housework is good exercise!"

And if the chimney doesn't come down off the roof to see why the kitchen stove is blowing smoke in the eyes of the potatoes, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the whale.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mrs. J.:—The skin disease, Acne, is most common at adolescence (the period of puberty, the beginning of adult life, to three or four years following), because at that time there is a great development of all of the tissues, and the oil glands of the skin sometimes are over-active. Blackheads form and become infected with a germ called the bacillus acne.

There are two general varieties of acne, acne vulgaris and acne indurata. The acne vulgaris is the simple acne, and consists of little hard pimples, and pimples that go on to pus. The face, shoulders and chest are the parts most affected. Usually acne vulgaris does not leave any permanent scars. In acne indurata the pimples are larger sized and deeper seated and harder. These larger bumps vary from the size of a pea to the size of a bean, going on to pus formation. They may leave scars unless they are opened very early in their course.

Sometimes acne vulgaris and acne indurata are combined. Acne is one of the most common of the skin diseases of youth, and tends to disappear when the body is fully developed.

While improper diet is not the sole cause of acne, there is no doubt that often an improper diet is one of its causes, and certainly is responsible for the continuance of the condition many times. We usually find that acne victims are excess candy and fat eaters. Anything that lowers the general health also may be the cause of acne.

The treatment would be both general and local. General treatment consists of the regulation of the diet, cutting out of all sweets and pastries and excess fat, and the correction of constipation. Exercise and daily bathing are important. The object of the local treatment is to open up the pimples and to stimulate the skin to more healthy action.

The face should be washed with soap and hot water and the blackheads taken out with a blackhead extractor. They are called comedone extractors in the stores, and they are inexpensive. After this, an application of an antiseptic in the form of an ointment or lotion should be used. A sulphur ointment is helpful to some cases, and others are benefited by a saturated solution of boric acid, one teaspoonful of the crystals to a cup of hot water.

One of our followers reported that she had been cured of acne by thoroughly scrubbing her face with soap and hot water and then laying a cloth wet in the boric acid solution on her face at night. There are many other things that are used for acne. Sometimes scrubbing the face two or three times a week with ordinary laundry soap has been effective. If the correction of the diet and habits, and the simple things that I have recommended, do not cure your acne, you should see a skin specialist.

M. H.:—The chin supporters which I referred to in answers to Correspondents at one time, are usually sold in the toilet department of drug and department stores. I recommended them to those who breathe through their mouths at night, even after they have had obstructive adenoids or tonsils taken out. In these cases it is usually habit that causes mouth breathing.

Mrs. B.:—You say that it took you five weeks to reduce six pounds and you were on 1200 calories a day. That shows that, unless you are counting your foods too low in calories, it does not take very many calories for your maintenance diet. (But didn't you overeat on some days enough to counterbalance a few days' loss?) Unless you want to go on fewer calories be content to lose one and a quarter pounds a week. That will soon get you down to normal. Or you can go on one liquid diet day, not over 600 calories, once a week. I'm afraid you omitted your fifteen minutes of daily strenuous exercise, as you did not say anything about it. For your dry skin I suggest that you use a lotion consisting of glycerine, two ounces, and rose water, six ounces.

P. S.:—If you really did have but 1200 calories a day and did exercise, it may be possible that your thyroid gland is not active enough. If that is true, you should put yourself under the personal care of a physician. (Be sure he is not a "diploma mill" graduate.)

The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one which you must enclose. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and typewritten or legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. UNDERTHINGS OF ENTICING CHARM

One does not need much light on the subject to see that the underthings pictured here are both pretty and practical. First come the pajamas for girls and juniors, with slip-on coat with kimono sleeves. It is trimmed with bands of self-material and a monogram. Linette, cotton and the crepes, silk and cotton, are suited to the development of this model, which requires, for medium size, 4 3-8 yards 36 inches wide.

Dolly is a rather sullen witness to the service of the second design, due largely to the cramped position. Sprightly indeed, however, is the wearer of the underwaist and drawers. A choice is provided for round or square neck for the waist, while the side-closing drawers are gathered at the upper and lower edges to straight bands. Medium size requires 1 1-2 yards 36-inch material.

The combination to the extreme right is for girls and juniors. It closes at the back, and about the round neck, armholes and lower edges of the pantalettes are frills of lingerie net, a very dainty and durable trimming for underwear. The upper back edge of the drawers is gathered to a waistband and buttoned to the back of the waist. Medium size requires 2 1-4 yards 36-inch material.

First model: Pictorial Review pajamas No. 1706. Sizes 6 to 17 years. Price 25 cents. Initial 12031. Transfer of any one initial in 27 different sizes, 35 cents.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

A HUSBAND'S INDIFFERENCE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman 24 years of age. My husband is working in another town and has been away almost a year. We were married three years ago and at that time he was employed in the same place where my father works. At an office picnic I met my husband. We fell in love at first sight and were married two months later. When we were married a little over a year a dear little boy was born to us. We were happy at that time although we didn't have much money.

Then we expected another baby and my husband felt he was not making enough money to support two children as he wanted to. His

it. Separate one egg, beating the white stiff with a pinch of salt. Now pile the frothy white on the toast in the shape of a nest. Make a hole in the center of this "nest" and put one-third teaspoon of butter and the egg-yolk into it. Slip this into a moderate oven to bake from six to eight minutes (it should not bake so long that the egg is tough and leathery—only till the egg is congealed). Serve at once.

SHE IS 15; HE IS 31

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a parents lived in another town and through his father he located a position there. He left me living with my parents and he went to live with his. All this time he has been sending me money, but the thing that breaks my heart is the fact that he seems perfectly satisfied to go on living with his parents.

After our baby was born he came to see me several times and each time he promised it would not be long before we would be together again. But he still says he has not been able to save enough money to take us there. I have been saving money all this time and I could afford to go on with our two children and pay rent for at least three months.

Do you think it would be wrong for me to go and surprise my husband? I am sure he loves me very dearly, but he is really hurting me when he is trying to be kind. He wants to do a lot for his family and I would be satisfied with a little.

What would you advise me to do?

HELEN K.

Since you have saved enough money to go to your husband and establish a home, it seems to me it would be advisable for you to do so. Your husband is very blind in the sacrifice he is making and I am sure that after you and the children have joined him he will be most thankful that you did not wait until he was in better circumstances. Since you love each other you really ought not to be separated. Besides the children and their father ought to be together during these months of their babyhood.

At times he acts queer, but not long ago he gave up another girl to be with me. He seems to be very jealous. He says he loves me very much. Do you think he does?

This other girl is angry at me. When anything is said about him she always acts funny. Should I treat her as a friend?

LONESOME BUSTER.

You are too young to go places at night with a boy, even to church. The boy probably cares for you. Whether or not he will continue to care, I cannot say. Yes, I would advise you to treat the other girl as a friend.

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

THE HANDS IN WINTER

The ugliest things in the world are the inappropriate ones. Nothing looks worse than to see raw-looking, red, chapped hands appear out of a dainty pair of French gloves. French kid gloves are delightful. They cling softly to the hand and show its shape (and if they are well cut gloves they improve its shape) but they are no protection against bad weather. They are for mild days or for the woman who takes her airings in a closed car, or for the woman who, unlike most women nowadays, keeps her hands inside a muff.

Special gloves are appropriate for special occasions. Long white gloves, once compulsory for every evening function, are now worn only for formal occasions. Most women preferring "not to bother" with them for anything short of the opera or very large formal evening party. Fine kid gloves, either white or colored, are for the dressy suit or the afternoon gown. For plain tailored clothes, for shopping or traveling or any such time stout cape walking gloves are the most appropriate and best looking choice. If wool or silk lined they will keep the hands soft and smooth in fact all-wool gloves are becoming the fashion for very cold days.

If, in spite of your efforts your hands chap, a good simple treatment is to wash them with soap and quite hot water, rinse them in hot water and dry, and then rub them with the honey almond preparation which is frequently given in this column. If the hands still chap after they have been scrubbed thoroughly with hot water and soap, smear them thickly with lard. Plain, pure lard is a marvelous cosmetic whose virtues are neglected simply because it is so cheap. You can go about all your household duties comfortably for an hour or more while your hands take up this grease inside the protection of rubber gloves. When finished wash off the lard and dust your hands lightly with powder.

White Gloves Look Bad With Red Hands

If you have pimples under the skin, it shows that your system is not clear; so that will be the thing to care for rather than the skin. An exception to this rule is when pimples continue after a long time when it is often found that they are infecting each other. In such cases any healing ointment in which there is sulphur usually end the eruptions.

This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILLIAN CAMPBELL

Miss Viola Smith is the only woman to hold the position of assistant trade commissioner in the department of commerce. She is stationed at Shanghai, China. At present she is at Washington, but will soon return to the Orient.

Miss Florence Underwood, secretary of the Women's Freedom League of Great Britain, recently wrote for prime minister Baldwin protesting against the fact that no woman received recognition in the New Year's honours lists. A large number of men were awarded peerages and knight-hoods, but not a single woman of British origin appeared on the list and only two were awarded peerages in India.

Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president of the National League of Women Voters, believes the time has come when women voters should show some definite contribution to the cause of good government.

"We have an accounting to make, and it is none too soon to begin marshalling our forces for the presidential election," Mrs. Park said recently. "We are ruled by a minority now. This is not due to the less responsible citizens alone. It is a common failing of thousands of well-intentioned and well-informed men and women who excuse themselves on slight pretext from registering their good intentions and their knowledge in the only place where they will count toward good government.

"This is a dangerous condition. If we are really to be a democracy it is high time we were about it. Until women were enfranchised it was our privilege to criticize a man-made government and we did it. It is now up to us to make good."

The first congress of the Women's Little Entente met at Bucharest in November last. Representatives from Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Poland, Greece and Roumania took part. The "International Woman Suffrage Alliance," reporting the meeting, says that the congress agreed to work for peace, woman suffrage, the organization of labor and the League of Nations.

D. Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president of the National League of Women Voters; Sarah Wambaugh, and Mary E. Woolley, president of Mt. Holyoke.

The Massachusetts League of Women Voters, in cooperation with and at Radcliffe College, recently held a school of politics on foreign affairs. Among the speakers were: Maj. General Henry T. Allen, commander United States Army of Occupation; Roland W. Boyden, formerly unofficial U. S. delegate on the reparations commission; Ada L. Comstock, president of Radcliffe; Manley O. Hudson, LL. ## Radio Flashing News Across United States

Because of the continued breakdown of land wires in the storm in the middle west Tuesday, International News Service again served its clients by radio. Through the courtesy of the Radio Corporation of America, all of the essential news of the day was sent by wireless from New York to San Francisco and there relayed over land wires that were still in operation. The Radio Corporation spanned the continent, diverting one of its trans-Atlantic stations to the use of International News Service.

The Glendale Evening News and other Southern California clients of International News Service have had the pleasure of continuous wire service on account of the radio relay from New York to the coast.

The truck, which was without registration certificates or other means of identification, had been standing there for twenty-four hours.

Have You Misplaced Commercial Truck?

A commercial truck which has been standing in the street in front of the Christian church, Colorado and Louise street, in such a position that it was a menace to traffic was towed into a garage last night by order of Detective Sergeant Charles P. Blake.

After being detained for some time at police headquarters he was ordered to leave town. A quantity of hair tonic and horse liniment, which evidently formed the basis of his spree, were confiscated and poured out.

Boy in Pajamas Is Reported as Missing

He was dressed in pajamas and sandals, described as being four feet tall, and having brown hair and blue eyes.

Notice

The Knockers' Club has recently suffered a crushing blow owing to the lapsing of so many memberships, when it was learned that Messrs. Ignorance and Prejudice held lifelong interests therein and were "running the thing."

We regret this very much, as this Club, which is universal in its activities, has really put CHIROPRACTIC in the exalted and enviable position it enjoys today.

The Knockers' Club, whose motto has always been "Condemnation before Investigation," or "Hang him first and Try him after," originated with the onlookers (wise birds) when Noah built the ARK so far from water, but Noah was obeying orders, ADJUSTING himself to an awkward situation, and came out all right. So we adjust the KINKS out of your spine and impending calamities will have no horrors for you.

Your discomfort is your warning. Let us add you to our host of friends.
